LAVANDULA ANG. ‘PROVENCE SERIES’ BY THOR

Lavandula ‘Provence Series’ is a charming miniature Lavender with compact sky-blue flower heads.

It has a nice natural compact growth, and the foliage has a pleasant fragrance.

‘Riez’ and ‘Valensole’ are among the earliest flowering angustifolia on the market, flowering from early March and throughout the summer.

After the first flowering the plant should be cut half back to desired shape and the second flowering will occur some weeks later.

‘Riez’ and ‘Valensole’ are suitable for pots in the patio and also thrives very well in flower beds in the garden. Planted in beds it will normally last for years in the garden.

The varieties are quite resistant to drought.

Available for shipping to your location as URC and CALLUS, from our partnership with Hasfarm Young Plants in Vietnam.
