POTHOS BY 'COLOURS OF SENTINEL'

Greenex proudly represents Colours of Sentinel.

Sentinel is a company that engages exclusively in the cultivation of the Scindapsus, a green houseplant originally from the tropics.

The plant is also well-known by the name of Pothos. It originated as a creeping plant, winding its path through the rain forests, up the stems and trunks of other plants and trees.

The leaves of a naturally-occurring Scindapsus can grow up to 2.5 metres (8.2ft) in width.

Available for shipment to your location as URC from our partnership with Xclusive Uganda.

EPIPREMNUM 'HAPPY LEAF'

'Happy leaf', White is back in fashion!

There's no doubt about it: White is THE fashionable colour in the Epipremnum collection!

Finally, a variant that combines traditional green with bright white. The youngest sprout in the Sentinel family is a real eye-catcher. Add a little colour to your own home or office collection... with white!

The 'Happy Leaf' is a great houseplant whose leaves are adorned primarily with white. You may find that this plant resembles the 'Marble Queen'.

This stands to reason, since these two are relatives. The 'Happy Leaf' originally comes from the forests of Asia where this plant grows upwards along the high trees. The leaves can become very large and we therefore recommend it be kept at home as a hanging plant.
